Gathering Song #66 Every Time I Feel the Spirit PENTECOST

Call to Worship Kate Rohrbaugh

Song #611 (v. 1, 3) Joyful, Joyful We Adore Thee HYMN TO JOY

Unison Prayer of Confession

Powerful Spirit of God, we are as sequestered like the first disciples were as they hid in their Upper Room. No, it's not because we are sheltering at home and wearing masks in the grocery store. We are hiding when racism persists and we do not live as if divisions between Jew and Greek, slave and free, male and female were not to be healed. We hide when we take refuge in our 401K rather than feel the pain of a virus that especially sickens and kills those crowded in work and living spaces. We hide when we act as if faith is only a private matter instead of a call to live out the Gospel through living out your love for our neighbor. We hide when we pretend that the schools, hospitals and democratic institutions are not treasures to be guarded, to be supported and strengthened rather than maligned. Blow the fire of your Spirit upon us that we may be instruments of furthering the gift of love and life you gave to the world through our risen Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.
