With the start of our local schools, the 19th Anniversary of September 11th, continual human and natural disasters bombarding us in the news – we are pushed towards trauma, O God. While tempted to ignore such sadness and threat, our faithfulness asks more of us. In faith, we know that we can remember Jesus' face as he hung upon the cross; and still see your love. By such love he leads us into a trustfulness that finds your presence and calls us to service in those things that deserve our attention. So, forgive our lack of trust. Call us anew to let Christ's Spirit dwell in us that we can face death, sin and evil with a hope that transforms our fear into love. Keep us crying out: "How long, O Lord," even as we breathe in the promise of your answer and presence. Amen.
